the paradox of financial success which of these approaches have you been using?

The Common Approach

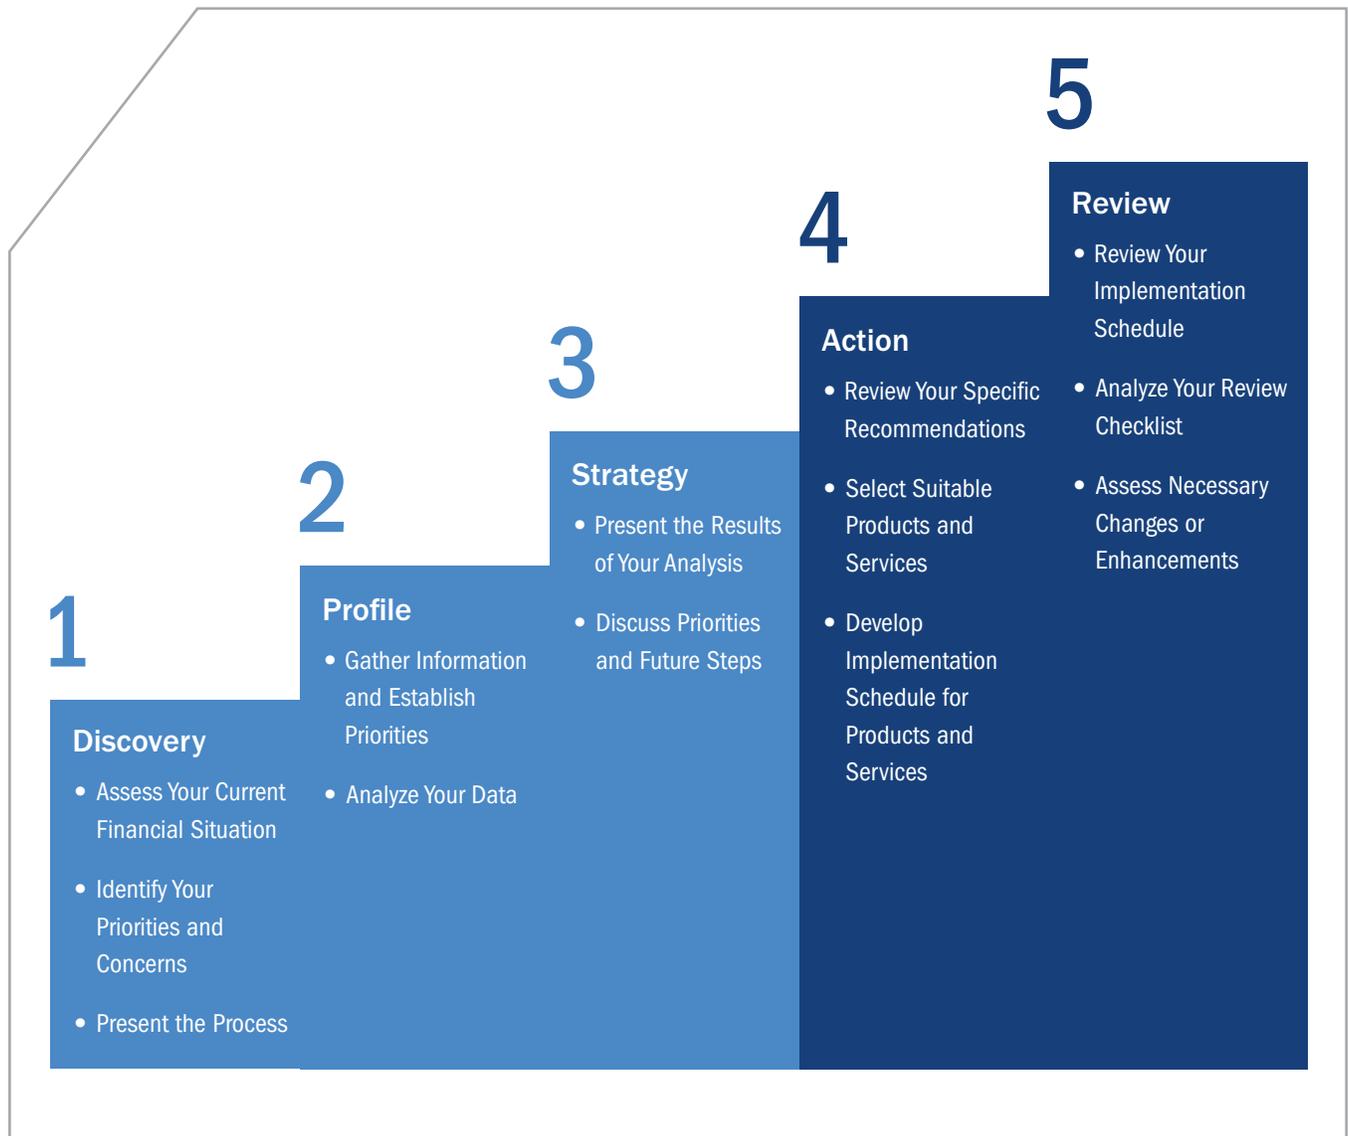

Many people build their financial house by purchasing products without professional assistance. They may purchase a financial product recommended by a friend, or a financial publication. Often what they end up with is a collection of unrelated products, and strategy is often ignored.

The Professional Approach

AXA Advisors offers a thorough analysis of your goals, priorities and resources to develop your personalized strategy. The result can be a portfolio of products that has the potential to start you on your way toward achieving financial success.

Conservative asset allocation strategies are most appropriate for investors seeking low volatility and a steady average rate of return potentially equal to or slightly exceeding the targeted rate of return on a fixed-income portfolio by investing a small portion in stocks.

Conservative-Plus asset allocation strategies are most appropriate for investors seeking potential returns above the average targeted return from a fixed-income portfolio accompanied with some volatility experienced from investing a portion in stocks.

Moderate asset allocation strategies are most appropriate for investors seeking above-average returns with increased volatility experienced from investing in a balanced portfolio of both fixed-income investments and stocks.

Moderate-Plus asset allocation strategies are most appropriate for investors seeking high potential returns with the expectation of significant volatility in any given year resulting from a portfolio with more stocks than fixed-income investments.

Aggressive asset allocation strategies are most appropriate for investors seeking the greatest potential return with extreme volatility in any given year from a portfolio invested mostly in stocks.
